Romantic poetry is characterized by the “spontaneous overflow of powerful feelings” (Wordsworth 263).

Full Title: “California Cigarette Tax Deters Smokers”
Citation: (“California” A14)
- ❑ If the source is only one page in length or is a web page with no apparent pagination:
Source: Dave Poland’s “Hot Button” web column

Handling Long Quotations

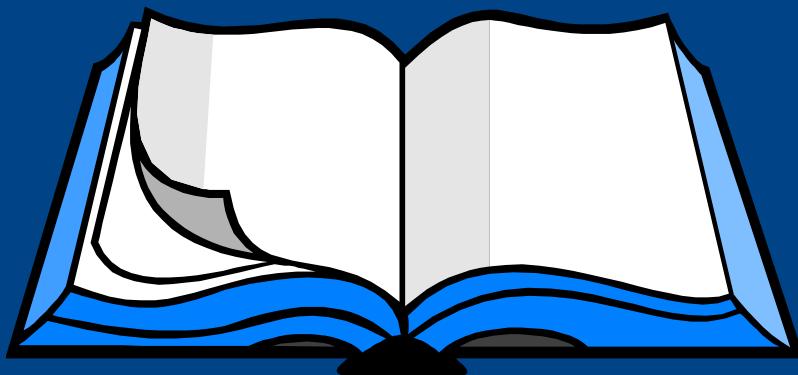

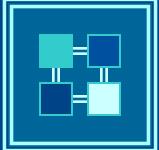

David becomes identified and defined by James Steerforth, a young man with whom David is acquainted from his days at Salem House. Before meeting Steerforth, David accepts Steerforth's name as an authoritative power:

There was an old door in this playground, on which the boys had a custom of carving their names. . . . In my dread of the end of the vacation and their coming back, I could not read a boy's name, without inquiring in what tone and with what emphasis he would read, "Take care of him. He bites." There was one boy—a certain J. Steerforth—who cut his name very deep and very often, who I conceived, would read it in a rather strong voice, and afterwards pull my hair. (Dickens 68)

For Steerforth, naming becomes an act of possession, as well as exploitation. Steerforth names David for his fresh look and innocence, but also uses the name Daisy to exploit David's romantic tendencies (Dyson 122).
